STEAMER MIOWERA.

Comes with New Commander and Makes a Record.

The R. M. S. Miowera, 3345 tons, Chas. W. Hay commander, arrived at 7:30 a. m., from Sydney via Suva after a most successful trip, the steaming time from Suva being a record. Prior to leaving Sydney the steamer had a thorough overhaul in saloon and cabins, and the engines were put in first class order under the superintendence of Chief Engineer Burgers.

The Miowera is now under command of Capt. Chas. W. Hay, who was temporarily in charge prior to Capt. Bird's joining. The many friends of the latter will be pleased to hear that he has accepted the management of a large wool business in Sydney (Messrs. Flood Co. Ld.). Although he was very loth to sever his connection with the company, the terms offered left him no option but to accept.

The Miowera left Sydney Heads 5:24 p. m., 10th inst.; arrived Suva 8 a. m., 16th, leaving same date 3 p. m., took pilot aboard 7 a. m., 24th, arriving as above. The weather has been fine throughout with the exception of the last three days, when strong N. E. trades and head sea somewhat reduced speed. The steamer sails for Vancouver at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

FELL THROUGH A HATCH.

Death of a Well-Known Sea Captain on the Sound.

A Seattle dispatch of August 8 to the Chronicle has the following account of the death of a master mariner well known in Honolulu: Captain Swanson of the bark Matilda fell through an open hatchway of his vessel while on his way from Port Townsend to Port Blakeley last night, and died in the hospital here today. Captain Swanson was well known on the Coast, where he has sailed for about twenty years. He leaves two children, who inherit an eighth interest in the Matilda. The bark was in the lumber trade between Puget Sound and Honolulu.

under the charge of the Hawaiian Board of Health, is practically the world's experimental station for the treatment of leprosy, and hundreds of methods of treating the disease among the Kanakas there have been ineffectually tried. This fact does not discourage me, however, nor am I rendered any the less eager to introduce this new treatment at Molokai by the well-known fact that the form of leprosy which afflicts the Kanakas has always been regarded as the most hopeless in the world. The leprosy which has scourged the islands of Hawaii, and which now bids fair to result in the utter extermination of the natives, was brought to the South Pacific from Europe. Two leprous ridden Portuguese sailors, who were beach-combers in Honolulu early in this century, are responsible for the plague of leprosy among the beautiful Hawaiian Islands, where literally hundreds of thousands of the Kanakas—a notably strong and handsome people before the introduction of the scourge—have become its victims. The form of leprosy which prevails there is quicker in action and more repulsive as to its outward manifestations than any other known form of disease; but, notwithstanding this fact, I venture to say that, with the co-operation of the Hawaiian Board of Health, which will unquestionably be given me, I shall be able to utterly eradicate leprosy in the Hawaiian Islands within two years, and probably in a much shorter period.

The comfortable school of scientists say that leprosy does not easily find a foothold among a clean, strong, naturally healthy race of people, but that it is a disease which chiefly characterizes nations of physical degenerates. Dr. Bouffe, the French leprosy expert, who was the first to discover the leprosy microbe, belongs to this school, but his statement is being strongly attacked by other scientists.

Pabst Is Its Name.

Climate of every variety exerts a different influence on the desires of mankind for a stimulant. In colder zones beverages of great alcoholic strength are used to a very much larger degree than in the tropics. Beer is best suited to our climate and none found in the market is better than that bearing the brand of "PABST, MILWAUKEE." It is brewed from the best of malt and hops and is a great thirst quencher and invigorator and stimulates the nerves and muscles. At the Royal, Cosmopolitan and Pacific saloons it may be found, cold and pure. Interchangeable checks are issued which may be used at any of the three resorts.

The one on Hotel street next to the Arlington is a notable exception, and in consequence is a source of wonder and delight to visitors who have never before seen this tree in bloom. King Bros. have made several excellent sketches in oil and water colors of this subject, which are meeting with ready sale.
